

In the Abstract:

Please replace the abstract with the following new abstract:

-- A communication system and methods are disclosed for use with vehicles. The communication system permits toll-free, local communication between people in two different vehicles using communicators that are synchronizable to a common operative channel or frequency with low-noise. --